Aquaponics and Land-based Aquaculture Equipment Exhibition Features

1

The Only Exhibition in Japan Dedicated to Aquaponics and Land-based Aquaculture

As Japan's sole specialized exhibition for aquaponics and land-based aquaculture systems, this event provides direct access to a wide range of professionals — from aquaculture and aquaponics operators seeking advanced facilities and materials, to newcomers from agriculture, other industries, and local governments exploring entry into the aquaculture business.

By engaging in high-quality business discussions with visitors who are eager to invest, exhibitors can powerfully expand their presence in the rapidly growing smart aquaculture market.

2

Creating New Markets Connecting Agriculture and Aquaculture

Held concurrently with GPEC 2026, Japan's leading exhibition for greenhouse horticulture and plant factories, this event fosters new cross-industry opportunities.

With shared technologies such as environmental control systems and automation, visitors from both sectors interact and exchange ideas, leading to dynamic business collaborations.

It serves as a catalyst for expanding the sustainable food-tech market that bridges land-based aquaculture and advanced agriculture.

3

Attracting Professionals through High-Impact Technical Seminars

Running alongside the exhibition, specialized seminars feature top industry leaders, pioneering businesses, and government representatives in aquaponics and land-based aquaculture.

These free sessions provide exclusive insights into business models, cutting-edge technologies, and circular economy initiatives.
